Did You Know That The Easiest Way To Break Into Your Business Is...

With A Key?

High Security Key Control Products

Are You At Risk?

A common misconception is "When a key is returned, everything is O.K.". This is wrong, and could be when you are most at risk. Each time an employee, cleaning person or guest has possession of your keys, there is a chance they can have a copy made without you knowing. This is when you lose key control.

Over 90% of the keys available in the market today are not protected by a United States Utility Patent. When a key is not patent protected there is almost nothing that a manufacturer or the law can do about unauthorized keys and key blanks being made or manufactured. This means that you are at risk each time your keys are accessible to anyone.
